

Library Offers Connecticut Security Officer Training Program

Hartford Public Library is pleased to announce that it will be offering a new program for training security officers. All Contract Security Officers and Proprietary Uniformed Security Officers are required to take an 8-hour training program in order to become a Certified Security Officer in the State of Connecticut as mandated by state statute. <http://bit.ly/2tNFhni>

Hartford Public Library's Security Officer Training program, approved by the State of Connecticut, will be conducted by Charles Barberi, HPL's Head of Security. The successful completion of this program will qualify candidates to apply for a Security Officers Identification Card, issued by the Connecticut Department of Emergency Services & Public Protection.

Hartford Public Library will be offering this training once a month at our Downtown Branch starting in the summer of 2017 for a fee. For more information, please contact Charles Barberi at 860-695-6356 or at cbarberi@hplct.org.
