

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Aug. 14 – Trackrat: Memoir of a Fan Book Launch with Author and Editorial
Cartoonist Bob Englehart at Hartford Public Library

HARTFORD, Connecticut (July 24, 2014) – On Thursday, August 14 at 5:30 p.m., Hartford Public Library will host a reception with author and Hartford Courant editorial cartoonist Bob Englehart celebrating the launch of his new book Trackrat: Memoir of a Fan.

What compels a young man or woman to spend ungodly amounts of money driving a racecar every weekend at the local track, risking life and limb at 150 miles an hour, entertaining friends and total strangers? Englehart had to find out after witnessing the tragic wreck that killed Boston-area driver Shane Hammond at Thompson International Speedway.

Trackrat explores a slice of American culture - the short track racing obsession - and how the author became a fan as a child, bedridden for a year by rheumatic fever with only his imagination, pencils, and watercolors to pass the time. Englehart writes about his parents' divorces and remarriages during an era when divorce was rare, and discovers the extraordinary motivation behind Shane Hammond's desire to race by a chance encounter with his mother and younger brother in the pits at the last race of the season. Trackrat: Memoir of a Fan is about love of family in spite of the complexity and confusion it may involve and the author's working class heroes on the track. This isn't NASCAR; this is your neighbor.

A fixture in Hartford journalism for over 30 years, Bob Englehart joined the Hartford Courant as an editorial cartoonist in 1980. He has awards from the Overseas Press Club, John Fischetti Contest, Planned Parenthood, and Free Press Association and was the finalist for the Pulitzer Prize in 1979. His cartoons have appeared in USA Today, Time, Newsweek, Sports Illustrated, the New York Times, and the London Times. His cartoons are in the collections of the Thomas Dodd Research Center at the University of Connecticut, Eastern Connecticut State University, Connecticut Historical Society, Ohio State University, Indiana University-Purdue University library, and The Newseum in Washington, DC.

The public is invited to this free reception with the author, to be held at The Kitchen at Hartford Public Library at 500 Main Street, Hartford.

Copies of Trackrat will be available for purchase and signing. A portion of all book sales benefit Hartford Public Library.

This event is presented in partnership with the Hartford Courant.
